

PROJECT ENGINEER

We are expanding our team at DBS Group! We're looking for someone who not only wants to join us in the ever-growing construction industry, but who is looking for an organization that will support opportunity and potential for growth. We're not simply offering a job. We're extending an invitation to launch your career.

At DBS Group, there is opportunity to begin in one position and move into another as you learn and grow within the company. If you're looking to start your career in the construction industry, or you are hungry for new opportunities, then we want to meet with you and discuss how DBS Group can support your long-term goals in the construction industry.

Ideally, the Project Engineer is a graduate of a 4-year construction program and has two years of construction or industry-related experience. We think your communication skills and your ability to organize are essential to your success in this position, and we will look to you to collaborate with our internal team and external vendor partners. We're looking for someone who is comfortable cultivating and maintaining professional relationships, and someone who will proudly represent us in all aspects of the position. We need a problem solver, and someone who will speak up and present ideas for improvement, efficiency, and new opportunities.

You'll participate in essential day-to-day activities in our Project Management and/or Pre-Construction departments that drive progress on our projects, with opportunities for office and jobsite interactions. This is a hands-on position, and you'll learn a lot.

DBS Group comprises experienced design and construction professionals committed to providing exceptional customer service, creating value, and providing a quality work product through design-build construction project delivery. We pride ourselves on being a true partner to our customers, and we are relentless in our efforts to contribute to their current and future success. If this sounds like a team, you'd like to be a part of, we'd love to hear from you.

To apply, please submit a letter of interest and resume to hr@dbsg.com.